Bhilwara Sur Sangam to Celebrate Diversity of Gharanas

New Delhi, March 22, 2017: In its continued journey of exploring the treasures of Hindustani Classical Music, LNJ Bhilwara Group, one of the country's leading business conglomerates, is celebrating the 6th edition of Bhilwara Sur Sangam, a festival of music at Kamani Auditorium, New Delhi on 25th and 26th March. With a dedicated mission to promote India's rich heritage and culture, LNJ Bhilwara Group has always brought together a unique blend of musicians and their respective traditions to attain the confluence of melody and joy with a mesmerizing variety. The maestros to perform this year are Ustad Wasifuddin Dagar, Pandit Budhaditya Mukherjee and Gaanasaraswatee Kishori Amonkar.

Ustad Wasifuddin Dagar is an Indian classical singer of the Dhrupad genre who was awarded the Padma Shri in 2010. Son of Dhrupad singer Ustad Nasir Faiyazuddin Dagar, he has a very rich history of illustrious performances across the globe. Budhaditya Mukherjee is a Hindustani classical Sitar and Surbahar player of the Imdadkhani Gharana. Endorsed by the legendary film maker Satyajit Ray, he has toured the world extensively, giving concerts in over 25 countries. Considered one of the foremost singers in the Hindustani tradition and an innovator of the Jaipur Gharana, Kishori Amonkar is an Indian classical vocalist. Prioritizing emotional expression over tradition, she has been modifying her Jaipur Gharana performance style by applying features from other Gharanas.

Over the years, Bhilwara Sur Sangam has created a unique identity for itself. Following the tradition of preserving Indian culture, the program has earned a great reputation for providing a platform for the confluence of music and tradition. Started in 2012, this classical musical fest has over the years featured exceptional and legendary artists including Pt. Jasraj, Pt. Hari Prasad Chaurasia, Ustad Shahid Pravez Khan, Ustad Rashid Khan, Pt. Ulhas Kashalkar, Ustad Shujaat Husain Khan, Gaanasaraswatee Kishori Amonkar, Dr. N. Rajam, Pt. Kumar Bose, Pt. Anindo Chatterjee, Pt. Ajoy Chakraborty, Sushri Kaushiki Chakraborty to name a few. This event has also received immense acclaim from people every year.

Shri Ravi Jhunjunwala, Chairman, LNJ Bhilwara Group said, "It is a great privilege to have hosted the festival for the past five years which has provided a rare opportunity for many of us to experience the magic of legendary classical music heroes. We are happy we have also been able to contribute to the cause of spreading the rich heritage of Indian classical music."

Shri Jhunjunwala further stated, "Today, this event is like a religion for us at LNJ Bhilwara Group. The legends that we have been showcasing have become a benchmark for us and we are equally passionate to bring talents from across regions. We thank our patrons for contributing immensely to the success of the program."
